Reviews

Academic

[Yale] Very competitive. Humanities (English, history, and languages) are focused on group discussions while math and science classes are lecture based (although there are many labs and group activities). Most classes have between 9 and 18 kids. Independent studies are available. Exams and papers are pretty heavily emphasized.

College Counseling

[Yale] College counseling begins in eleventh grade. No restrictions. Meet with counselors as often as desired. Teachers are willing to give recommendations and contact colleges.

Admissions Process

[Yale] Applicants to Hopkins School submit grades and scores. SSAT required—very good scores. Attending the Foote School and St. Thomas Day School (both in New Haven, CT) definitely helps.

Extra-Curricular Activities

[Yale] Students are required to play a sport in the fall, winter, and spring—you are exempt if you are in the play. There are specific times for extracurricular activities. There is very little leisure time.

Quality of School Life

[Yale] Hopkins is a day school, cafeteria is nice, great social area, nice library. Labs are not great. Most kids are rich and either white or Asian. Very competitive culture, but peers are active in the community. Rigid discipline approach.
